

JONATHAN SIZER.

DECEMBER 22, 1831.

MR. HUBBARD, from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, to whom was referred the resolution to inquire into the expediency of placing the name of Jonathan Sizer on the list of Revolutionary Pensions, report:

That Jonathan Sizer was, previous to the act of May, 1820, on the pension list: that, under that act, by the decision of the Secretary of War, his name has been stricken from the list on account of the amount of his property.

The services of Sizer are well established. He enlisted in the spring of 1778, in Colonel Meigs' regiment, for, and during the war: that he continued to do duty until the spring of the year 1780, when, by reason of ill health, he was compelled to resign.

It is in evidence, that the said Sizer is now more than seventy-three years of age, very infirm, and, by reason of a rheumatic affection, and the paralysis of his right arm, he is unable to labor. His wife is more than seventy-two years of age, and is so infirm as to be unable to labor. The character of Jonathan Sizer for truth, sobriety, and for habits of industry, is very clearly established by the evidence.

The property of which the applicant is possessed, amounts to $868 25. It consists partly of an old dwelling-house, in New London, valued at $400, and other property to an amount of $468 25.

The committee are clearly of the opinion that the amount of property, of which the applicant is the owner, is not sufficient, together with what labor he can perform, to yield him a support, without the assistance of his country. They, therefore, report a bill.

Mr. Hubbard, from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, made the following

REPORT

The Committee on Revolutionary Pensions, to whom was referred the resolution to inquire into the expediency of placing the name of Jonathan Sizer on the list of Revolutionary Pensions, report:

That Jonathan Sizer was previous to the act of May, 1820, on the pension list, that, under that act, by the decision of the Secretary of War, his name has been stricken from the list on account of the amount of his property.

The services of Sizer are well established. He enlisted in the spring of 1778, in Colonel Mearns' regiment, for, and during the war; that he continued to do duty until the spring of the year 1780, when, by reason of ill health, he was compelled to resign.

It is established, that the said Sizer is now more than seventy-three years of age, very infirm, and, by reason of a rheumatic affection, and the paralytic of his right arm, he is unable to labor. His wife is more than seventy-two years of age, and is so infirm as to be unable to labor. The character of Jonathan Sizer for truth, sobriety, and for habits of industry, is very clearly established by the evidence.

The property of which the applicant is possessed, amounts to $268 25. It consists partly of an old dwelling-house, in New London, valued at $200, and other property to an amount of $68 25.

The committee are clearly of the opinion that the amount of property of which the applicant is the owner, is not sufficient, together with what labor he can perform, to yield him a support, without the assistance of his country. They therefore report a bill.
